

Continuous Testing Maturity Assessment

Let us assess your teams and create your path to success

Why would you want it?

In today's ever-changing environments, agility and the ability to ship high quality software faster are the keys to business success. To keep up with growing demands, and deliver "quality at speed", organizations constantly need to evaluate their current state of work and adapt to changing requirements.

Whether you need to go through a digital transformation journey or simply increase the efficiency of your current organizational setup, the right approach to testing will be the key enabler to achieve your business goals. While many organizations are already focusing on improving their development and software delivery processes, testing is often the overlooked enabler that combines delivery speed with software quality and removes the bitterness and setbacks that comes with poor software quality. We help you overcome common pitfalls by assessing your entire testing organization, down to the individual team level and lay out a path forward, so you can achieve your desired business outcomes.

What is it?

Based on our in-depth insights from clients of different industries and sizes across the globe, we at Tricentis have developed a proven capabilities model – the Elements of Continuous Testing – to help you identify your strengths and weaknesses and advance your testing organization to the next level.

In these complimentary assessments, we will help you understand the elements of continuous testing that you can leverage in your organization to achieve long-lasting results. We enable you to define measurable outcomes and proactively act upon key metrics, so you can create awareness and showcase your successes.

Key Takeaways

A lean approach to your testing transformation

- Accelerate the adoption of Continuous Testing within your organization
- Track, prioritize, and adopt plans continually
- Re-assessed and re-prioritize to achieve strategic goals

End-to-end visibility of your progress and achievements

- Build, measure, and optimize expertise through a Continuous Improvement process
- Create success stories and promote your achievements to motivate teams

Promote a Quality First mindset across your organization

- Achieve tactical goals with a customized step-by-step Testing Transformation guide
- Measure and benchmark your progress through metrics that matter to the business

How do we do it?

We analyze the performance of your testing teams and their impact on your QA organization to build out a clear roadmap and help you advance to the next level. We support you throughout your DevOps and digital transformation journey and help you find your individual path to success that accelerates your desired business outcomes.

In our assessments, we follow standardized methods and models to create your custom-tailored solution that fits to your needs.

1. Understand the elements that are critical to continuous testing in your organization and learn how to implement them
2. Define measurable outcomes and proactively act upon key metrics
3. Track your successes and create awareness by showcasing success stories
4. Revisit your goals, adapt to evolving requirements and create long-lasting results to achieve your desired business outcomes

✓ Assessment

In the first assessment, we will guide your testing teams through the elements that enable continuous testing and help them define priorities and key focus areas. After the assessment, you will receive an in-depth report summarizing all our findings, along with guidance in selecting key metrics and KPIs that defines your success and a roadmap forward.

Duration: 2 hours per team

Target Audience: Test Management and Strategy team

✓ Regular Check-Ins

In periodical check-ins, we will help you review your progress and reassess your tracked metrics, priorities, and desired outcomes. In those check-ins, we will also show you how to promote the successes that you've already achieved and identify changing business needs, so you can become more successful.

Duration: 1 hour per team

Audience: Test Management and Strategy team

Customer Quotes

Tricentis really goes above and beyond for their customers with this complementary service. I've paid thousands of dollars for similar assessments that provided less value.

QA Manager, Insurance, AMS

The assessment has really helped us align our organization in our digital transformation journey.

Head of Digital Transformation, Banking, EMEA

Wow! The assessment is exactly what I'm looking for to help me align my teams with our testing strategy this year.

Director of QA, Telecommunications, APAC

Contact your Customer Success Manager now and schedule an appointment to get your current state in Continuous Testing and advance with the measurable step-by-step approach tailored to your needs